REFUSAL

Of United States to Stop Shipping War Materials to Belligerents

IS SENT TO AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Teutonic Allies Furnished Munitions to England

DURING WAR WITH BOERS

When the Latter Could Not Receive Such Contraband, and This Fact is Cited in Note Sent Dual Monarchy Calling Attention to the Inconsistency of Present Demands.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Aug. 16.—The United States, in a note to Austria-Hungary, published today, firmly but politely declines to accede to the request of the Vienna government that the export of arms to the allies be stopped.

The communication is in reply to the recent Austrian protest that the United States in permitting the export of arms to Austria's enemies was violating the "spirit" of neutrality. The American note is a flat denial of that contention and vigorously upholds the right of the United States under international law, to export war munitions. In justification of its position, the United States recites among other things that international law, the practice of nations, the security of the United States and other nations without large military or naval establishments and neutrality itself are opposed to prohibiting the export of war munitions by a neutral to a belligerent in time of war.

The United States contends that it cannot deny to others the right which it claims for itself to purchase war munitions from a neutral in event of a foreign attack. In this connection the United States hints that it might have to buy from neutrals if attacked.

The note recites the fact that Austria-Hungary and Germany supplied munitions of war to Great Britain during the Boer war when England's enemies could not import such supplies and a statistical table of such sales is appended. It suggests that had Austria and Germany refused to sell arms to Great Britain at that time, "on the ground that to do so would violate the strict neutrality," these countries "might with greater consistency and greater force urge their present contention." The full text of the note as sent to Ambassador Penfield for transmission is as follows:

Department of State, Washington, Aug. 12, 1915. Please present a note to the loyal foreign office in reply to its note of June 29, in the following sense:

The government of the United States has given careful consideration to the statement of the imperial and royal government in regard to the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States to the countries at war with Austria-Hungary and Germany. The government of the United States notes with satisfaction the recognition by (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

Sylvia Pankhurst Threatens Trouble, If Forced to Labor.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Aug. 16.—Sylvia Pankhurst, famed as a militant suffragist, will not comply with the national registry regulations, she asserts. "I am not going to register; that is all I know about it," declared Miss Pankhurst at a meeting, followed by a demonstration of East London suffragettes. "For my part I think it merely a ruse to get more power out of the workers. I am not a man so they can't take me to war, but they won't send me to a munitions factory. They know there will be trouble. They pay two shillings, eight pence (65 cents a dozen) for soldiers khaki shirts and men must fight for better conditions for women."

JEWELS WORTH $22,000 TAKEN IN DAYLIGHT

(Associated Press Telegram) Chicago, Aug. 16.—Miss Beatrice Allen, who occupies a fashionable South Side apartment, was robbed in daylight today of jewelry valued at $22,000 and $100 cash.

The robbers obtained entrance by pretending to be from a florist. They stunned the maid with a "black jack" and intimidated Miss Allen with a revolver. The moment the robbers disappeared Miss Allen ran to a balcony and screamed. A policeman exchanged shots with the fugitives, but they escaped.

SALARIES CUT OF CITY OFFICIALS NASHVILLE, TENN.

(Associated Press Telegram) Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—Chancellor Allison today cut salaries of all city officials and employees from the mayor down 25 per cent, and authorized a municipal loan of $167,000 for current expenses. Chancellor Allison's action is a consequence of the so-called city hall scandal in which charges of financial irregularities were made and a receiver was asked for the city of Nashville. The city's credit is not impaired.

5 MEN KILLED; EXPLOSION AT POWDER PLANT

(Associated Press Telegram) Emporium, Pa., August 16.—Five men were killed and the gelatine house of the Aetna Explosive company at Grove Run, near here, was blown to pieces today by an explosion. Two other buildings were badly damaged and the entire countryside shaken. The men, Joseph Strayer, Fred Haskins, Emory Haskins, Ossie Miller and Michael Campbell, were the only employees in the building when the explosion occurred, and company officials never known. The company has been engaged in filling war orders, it was stated.

PREMIER ASQUITH'S EVIDENCE THAT DARDANELLES CAMPAIGN IS SUCCEEDING

AMERICAN PRESS

This is the first photograph directly from the Dardanelles to show Turkish prisoners in the hands of the British. These forlorn men were huddled behind their own barbed wire entanglements at Sedul Bahr. They had erected these wires to keep out the British. Conditions were so primitive that the prisoners had to sleep on the rolling sand dunes. The tent in the background is where their scant meals are cooked.

SUICIDE

OF DUNKARD PREACHER ACCUSED OF MURDERING A 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL.

Made Noose of Piece of Pipe and Hanged Himself in Cell—Left no Confession.

(Associated Press Telegram) South Bend, Ind., Aug. 16.—Silas N. Ebersole, a former Dunkard minister, held for the murder of 15-year-old Hazel Macklin, in August, 1914, committed suicide by hanging himself in the county jail this morning.

Ebersole's body was found hanging to the iron bars in the rear of his cell by Turnkey R. G. Barkley, early today, and the indications were that he had been dead for several hours. The former preacher broke off a small lead pipe from a disinfectant apparatus, in the hallway, near his cell, and twisted it about his neck and around the bars of the cell, over his head. He had trussed himself with towels and blankets, so that in his death struggles, he would not be able to release himself from the pipe. Death was due to strangulation.

Ebersole left nothing in the way of a confession, according to Coroner T. J. Swantz, but a letter addressed to his wife was found in the cell. The authorities say this had to do with business matters.

CASE OF CHOLERA.

(Associated Press Telegram) Geneva, Switzerland, Thursday, August 12.—Via Paris, August 16. (Delayed in transmission.) Asiatic cholera has appeared at Cannstatt, Wuerttemberg. An official notice says that only one case has developed, that of a German soldier on leave who contracted the disease in Galicia, and that every precaution is being used to prevent the spreading of the contagion.

Value of English Money Drops To Lowest Price in History; Francs Follow Suit

(Associated Press Telegram) New York Aug. 16.—The value of the English pound sterling went steadily and rapidly downward today until it touched $4.64 in American money, the lowest value ever placed on it since New York became a financial center. Utter demoralization of the foreign exchange markets resulted.

Francs followed suit, falling to $6, or the equivalent of 16 2-3 cents. Normally pounds sterling are quoted at $4.87 and francs at approximately 20 cents. On Saturday last the English pound established a new low record in the New York money market by falling to $4.69. Today it opened two cents under Saturday's lowest price, a situation without parallel in the history of American finance, within an hour lost another penny and by 1 o'clock had sold down to $4.61.

The sharp fall in exchange rates was ascribed to the demand of American manufacturers for pay for the goods sold by them abroad. Within the last few days the money market has been flooded with millions of American bills against Great Britain and her allies. It was reported that last Friday between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 of such bills were presented to one big banking house alone. Today's demands, which sent the exchange rates to unheard of low levels, were believed to be far in excess of this sum.

With the English pound debased as never before, the American dollar was today the standard of the world financial market. In financial circles the rapid lowering of foreign exchange rates was regarded as presaging difficulties ahead. Ways in which England might meet the situation and maintain her credit here were commonly discussed. There seemed to be two alternatives:

The establishment here of a huge loan or credit, conservatively put at $500,000,000 or the acquisition in England of a large amount of American security to be placed here as collateral for a temporary credit.

APPEAL FOR AID SHAWNEE MINERS SENT OUT TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 16.—An urgent appeal for aid for the miners of Shawnee was sent to State Mine Commissioner Roan today by the mayor of the village, M. W. Bradshaw. There are 100 miners in Shawnee without employment, and in many cases their families are in dire want, Mayor Bradshaw said in his letter.

"Most of them are too proud to beg," the mayor said, "but I have positive information that their families are suffering."

Meantime a deficit of $2329 was reported today by Assistant Adjutant General E. S. Bryant, in the state miners' relief fund. The reports that the suffering of the miners is exaggerated have had the effect of diminishing public contributions, according to Colonel Bryant. He declared that despite stories to the contrary, the appeals for aid are becoming more clamorous.

EDUCATORS

FROM FAR AND NEAR GATHERING FOR N. E. A. ANNUAL CONVENTION

Which This Year is Being Held in San Francisco—10,000 Delegates at Opening.

(Associated Press Telegram) Oakland, Calif., Aug. 16.—Every incoming train and steamer continued today to increase the hosts of delegates that have gathered here for the fifty-third annual convention of the National Educational Association and it was estimated that 10,000 were on hand for the opening session. Representatives from 27 foreign countries are expected to participate in the 13 day convention. The national council of education, the International Kindergarten Union, the American School Peace League and numerous other allied organizations will meet in conjunction with the parent body.

Politics, it was apparent today, would claim the interest of many delegates until the fight for the presidency of the National Educational Association is settled next Thursday.

The leading candidates are Miss Grace C. Strachan, district superintendent of schools of Brooklyn, N. Y., and David B. Johnson, president of the Winthrop Industrial and Agricultural college of South Carolina. For the next convention place, Atlantic City, N. J., is being urged by energetic campaigners.

Mexican Bandits Attempt To Reorganize Their Bands; American Cavalry Fired Upon

(Associated Press Telegram) Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 16.—Reports of renewed attempts by Mexican bandits to reorganize their hands in the lower Rio Grande valley were brought here today by Captain of Texas Rangers, J. J. Sanders.

A detachment of United States cavalry patrol was fired on last night from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande from here. The firing occurred at Progreso. The cavalrymen returned the fire and the shooting from the Mexican side stopped. There were no casualties among the American troops.

Captain Sanders said he had received reports that Mexicans are crossing into Texas one or two at a time and that they are attempting to gather again in Hidalgo county, west of Brownsville. Sunday, he said a dozen approached a ranch house near San Benito, sending two to the house. The rancher's wife was at home alone.

They asked her where her husband and his horses were. After satisfying themselves that both the man of the house and the horses were away, the Mexicans left. Rangers were searching for them today. The Twenty-Sixth Infantry, from Texas City, went on duty here today. About 75 men of the Twenty-Sixth were left at Kingsville, 11 miles north of Brownsville, and more than two companies went on patrol at

INTENSITY

Of the Warsaw Struggle Showing Its Effects On Both Sides

OPERATIONS ARE DEVELOPING SLOWLY

Hindenberg Tries Forcing Troops Toward Petrograd

EXPECT BALKAN CLIMAX

After Meeting of Serbian and Greek National Assemblies Today, and Pessimism Prevails As to Aid Being Given Entente Allies, Because of Bulgaria's Demands.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Aug. 16.—Military operations in the eastern field are developing slowly. Both sides show the effects of the intensity of the Warsaw struggle. The German advance now centers on the efforts of Field Marshal von Hindenberg to force troops across the Dvina and eastward in the general direction of Petrograd and the near approaches of the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria to the new Brest-Litovsk defense. Notwithstanding the steady pressure of the Germans, the Russians have succeeded thus far in holding them west of the Dvina.

The Balkan crisis is drawing near a climax. The national assemblies of Serbia and Greece meet today, with the probability of a definite decision as regards Bulgaria's territorial demands, upon which hinge the question of united action of the Balkan states with the allies.

In the best posted quarters here the outlook is regarded with a degree of pessimism. It is expected Serbia will seek a compromise and Greece will reject the Bulgarian contentions. Reports from Athens indicate that King Constantine is insisting the new cabinet must maintain strict neutrality, the effect of which would be to withhold Greece from participating in a plan of united Balkan co-operation with the allies.

In the meantime there are many evidences of Austro-German preparations to deal with the Balkan situation. According to information from Bucharest, German army corps have been concentrated near the junction of Hungary, Rumania and Serbia.

This with the bombardment of Belgrade, and the activity of Austrian artillery at many points along the Danube lends support to reports of a great Austro-German offensive in the Balkans.

The outcome of the crisis is awaited most anxiously, as determining whether the allies will receive new support from the Balkans and whether Germany's supplies of ammunition for Turkey will continue to be shut off by the Balkan barrier.

Bulgarian officials do not expect an agreement will be reached by the Serbian minister at London. M. Boshkovitch, told the Associated Press he believed a middle ground would be found on which it will be possible to unite the Balkan states.

Merchants Meet Tonight For Final Arrangements For Picnic To Be Held At Park Thursday

Final details will be completed tonight at a meeting of the Merchants' Association for the big Farmers' and Merchants' picnic to be held at Moundbuilders park next Thursday. Every merchant in the city, whether a member of the association or not, is urged to be present. All committeemen are expected to be present without urging. This meeting will be in the nature of a booster's session and, it is desired that the attendance be large.

The band engaged for the day will be on duty early Thursday, and the old guard will no doubt be at the park well before noon. The guard is to act as an honorary escort for Governor Willis who will come to Newark by automobile and go directly to the park where he is to speak. The other speakers who will arrive by train or trolley will be met by committees from the association and escorted to the grounds.

Monday morning the window of Sperry & Harris, furniture dealers in North Park place, was filled with the prizes to be given to winners of first and second place in the numerous contests. All the prizes are well worth the effort. More than $100 worth of merchandise is offered for the winners of the horse races. A force of men has been at work today putting the park grounds in shape for the big event. The dance hall has been made ready for all day dancing on Thursday.

The athletic events will start at 9:30 a. m. and the horse races at 2 o'clock. The speaking will start at 1:30 o'clock. There is every indication that Thursday will be the biggest day in Newark for many years. It is believed that the attendance will be large. Visitors are urged to bring their basket dinners and spend the day in the beautiful old park. The Grocers and Meat Dealers Association has arranged to provide free coffee and lemonade for all.

REFERS CONFERENCE PLAN TO CARRANZA.

(Associated Press Telegram) El Paso, Texas, Aug. 16.—The Carranza consulate here today announced the receipt of a copy of the reply of General P. E. Calles, Carranza commander in Sonora, to the Pan-American appeal for a peace conference of leaders. In effect, it refers the state department and the Latin-American diplomats to Carranza.

FORMER PREMIER DEAD.

(Associated Press Telegram) Buda Pest, August 16.—Via Amsterdam and London—Koloman von Seltz, former premier of Hungary, died this morning. He resigned the premiership in 1903 and served subsequently as a member of the diet.

Carranza Will Not Obstruct The Delivery of Pan-American Appeal To The Mexican Factional Leaders

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Aug. 16.—Assurances that General Carranza will not obstruct delivery of the Pan-American appeal to Mexico, reached the state department today in a message from C. B. Parker, of the American Embassy staff in Mexico City, saying General Pablo Gonzales, Carranza's commander there had "promised safe conduct to the messengers who are to carry the appeal to General Zapata and others."

Parker also reported destitution among Americans in the capital and said 120 being aided by American embassy attaches had asked to be sent to the United States. A message from Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported that the Bishop of Vera Cruz who had been imprisoned by Carranza authorities for some time, had been released. Advice from Monterey said Villa forces under Rosendo Hernandez and Raoul Madero had advanced within leagues of the city.

Consul Silliman has been stricken by the hot weather, but his illness is not serious. No reply to the Pan-American appeal had been received today. State department officials are undecided whether to make their public after they are received before another conference with the Latin-American diplomats is held. Under the language of the appeal, the Mexican leaders may invite some of the Latin-Americans to arrange the proposed peace conference and ignore the offer of the United States. Officials here say that only those invited will participate in the arrangements.

General Carranza's agency here today made public telegrams from several generals pledging their support to General Carranza. The agency announced the telegrams were written at a time when the generals feared the threat of armed intervention by the United States in the internal affairs of Mexico and of participation in that movement by south and central American powers.

A state department dispatch from Torreon says the Villa garrison at Durango has revolted and that the city has been taken by Carranza forces.

The American consul at Chihuahua reported today that all foreign shops seized by General Villa have been returned to their owners. It is expected that Villa will do the same for the native shopkeepers. Villa took possession of the shops on the ground that the merchants were practicing extortion upon the famine ridden inhabitants. His latest action follows his conference with Major General Scott.

Word that both General Carranza and General Villa have received notices of the Pan-American appeal reached the state department today. From several sources it has been learned that General Villa's suggestion of a truce has been favorably received by some subordinate officers and soldiers of the Carranza armies. There has been practically no fighting in Mexico for several days.

REGULAR MEETING OF CABINET HAS BEEN CANCELLED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Aug. 16.—President Wilson today cancelled tomorrow's regular cabinet meeting as well as his usual Tuesday conference with the Washington correspondents.
The president had planned to see Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral Wm. S. Benson, chief of operations today on the question of national defenses, but postponed the meeting because of other business. Later this week the president will see Secretary Garrison. Neither Secretary Daniels nor Secretary Garrison has completed his report on national defense for which President Wilson is waiting.
Administration officials are pressing the president to return to Cornwall for as much rest as possible but he has made engagements which will keep him in Washington for at least another week. The indications are he may not go back to Cornwall before Sept. 1.

The imperial and royal government of the United States has been the subject of the undoubted fact that its attitude with regard to the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States is prompted by its intention to "maintain the strictest neutrality and to conform to the letter of the provisions of international treaties, but is surprised to find the imperial and royal government implying that the observance of the strict principles of the law under the conditions which have developed in the present war is insufficient, and asserting that this government should go beyond the long recognized rules governing such traffic by neutrals and adopt measures to "maintain an attitude of strict parity with respect to both belligerent parties."
To this assertion of an obligation to change or modify the rules of international usage on account of special conditions of the government of the United States cannot accede. The recognition of an obligation of this sort, unknown to the international practice of the past, would impose upon every neutral nation a duty to sit in judgment on the progress of a war and to restrict its commercial intercourse with a belligerent whose naval success prevented the neutral from trade with the enemy. The contention of the imperial and royal government appears to be that the advantages gained to a belligerent by its superiority on the seas should be equalized by the neutral powers by the establishment of a system of nonintercourse with the victor.
The imperial and royal government confines its comments to arms and ammunition, but if the principle for which it contends is sound, it should apply with equal force to all articles of contraband. A belligerent controlling the high seas might possess an ample supply of arms and ammunition but be in want of food of clothing. On the novel principle that equalization is a neutral duty, neutral nations would be obliged to place an embargo on such articles because one of the belligerents could not obtain them through commercial intercourse.
But, if this principle, so strongly urged by the imperial and royal government, should be admitted to obtain by reason of the superiority of a belligerent at sea, ought it not to operate equally as to a belligerent superior on land? Applying this theory of equalization, a belligerent who lacks the necessary munitions to contend successfully on land ought to be permitted to purchase them from neutrals, while a belligerent with an abundance of war stores or with the power to produce them should be debarred from such traffic.

Manifestly the idea of strict neutrality now advanced by the imperial and royal government would involve a neutral nation is a mass of perplexities which would obscure the whole field of international obligation, produce economic confusion and deprive all commerce and industry of legitimate fields of enterprise, already heavily burdened by the unavoidable restrictions of war.
In this connection it is pertinent to direct the attention of the imperial and royal government to the fact that Austria-Hungary and Germany, particularly the latter, have during the year preceding the present European war produced a great surplus of arms and ammunition which they sold throughout the world and especially to belligerents. Never during that period did either of them suggest or apply the principle now advocated by the imperial and royal government.
During the Boer war between Great Britain and the South African republics the patrol of the coasts of neighboring neutral colonies by British naval vessels prevented arms and ammunitions reaching the Transvaal or the Orange Free State. The allied republics were in a situation almost identical in that respect with that in which Austria-Hungary and Germany find themselves at the present time. Yet, in spite of the commercial situation of one belligerent, Germany sold to Great Britain, the other belligerent, hundreds of thousands of kilos of explosives, gunpowder, cartridges, shot and weapons, and it is known that Austria-Hungary also sold similar munitions to the same purchaser, though in small quantities. While, as compared with the present war, the quantities sold were small, the principle of neutrality involved was the same. If at that time Austria-Hungary and her present ally had refused to sell arms and ammunition to Great Britain on the ground that to do so would violate the spirit of strict neutrality, the imperial and royal government might with greater consistency and greater force urge its present contention.
It might be further pointed out that during the Crimean war large quantities of arms and military stores were furnished to Russia by Prussian manufacturers; that during the recent war between Turkey and Italy, as this government is advised, arms and ammunition were furnished to the Ottoman government by Germany; and that during the Balkan war the belligerents were supplied with munitions by both Austria-Hungary and Germany. While these latter cases are not analogous, as in the case of the South African war, to the situation of Austria-Hungary and Germany in the present war they nevertheless clearly indicate the long-established practice of the two empires in the matter of trade in war supplies.
In view of the foregoing statement this government is reluctant to believe that the imperial and royal government will ascribe to the United States a lack of impartial neutrality limiting its legitimate trade in kinds of supplies used to render the armed forces of a belligerent efficient even though the circumstances of the present war prevent Austria-Hungary from obtaining such supplies from the markets of the United States, which have been and remain, so far as the action and policy of this government are concerned, open to all belligerents alike.

But in addition to the question of principle there is a practical and substantial reason why the government of the United States has from the foundation of the republic to the present time advocated and practiced unrestricted trade on the arms and military supplies. It has never been the policy of this country to maintain in time of peace a large military establishment or stores of arms and ammunition sufficient to repel invasion by a well-equipped and powerful enemy. It has desired to remain at peace with all nations and to avoid any appearance of menacing such peace by the threat of its armies and navies.
In consequence of this standing policy the United States would, in the event of attack by a foreign power, be at the outset of the war seriously, if not fatally, embarrassed by the lack of arms and ammunition and by the means to produce them in sufficient quantities to supply the requirements of national defense. The United States always depended upon the right and power to purchase arms and ammunition from neutral nations in case of foreign attack. This right, which it claims for itself, it cannot deny to others.
A nation whose principle and policy it is to rely upon international obligations and international justice to preserve its political and territorial integrity might become the prey of an aggressive nation whose policy and practice it is to increase its military strength during times of peace with the design of conquest, unless the nation attacked can after war has been declared, go into the markets of the world and purchase the means to defend itself against the aggressor.
The general adoption by the nations of the world of the theory that neutral powers ought to prohibit the sale of arms and ammunition to belligerents would compel every nation to have in readiness at all times sufficient munitions of war to meet any emergency which might arise and to maintain establishments for the manufacture of arms and ammunitions sufficient to supply the needs of its military and naval forces throughout the passage of a war. Manifestly the application of this theory would result in every nation becoming an armed camp ready to resist aggression and tempted to employ force in asserting its rights rather than appeal to reason and justice for the settlement of international disputes. Perceiving, as it does, that the adoption of the principle that it is the duty of a neutral nation to prohibit the sale of arms and ammunition to a belligerent during the progress of a war would inevitably give the advantage to the belligerent which had encouraged the manufacture of munitions in time of peace and which had laid in vast stores of arms and ammunition in anticipation of war, the government of the United States is convinced that the adoption of the theory would force militarism on the world and work against that universal peace which is the desire and purpose of all nations which exalt justice and righteousness in their relations with one another.
The government of the United States in the foregoing discussion of the practical reason why it has advocated and practiced trade in munitions of war, wishes to be understood as speaking with no thought of expressing or implying any judgment with regard to the circumstances of the present war, but as merely putting very frankly the argument in this matter which has been conclusive in determining the policy of the United States.

While the practice of nations, so well illustrated by the practice of Austria-Hungary and Germany during the South African war and the manifest evil which would result from a change of that practice under compliance with the suggestions of the imperial and royal government out of the question, certain Austrian statements as grounds for its contentions cannot be passed over without comment. These assertions are substantially as follows:
First—That the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States to belligerents contravenes the preamble of The Hague convention No. 13 of 1907.
Second—That it is inconsistent with the refusal of this government to allow delivery of supplies to vessels of war on the high seas.
Third—That, "according to all authorities on international law who concern themselves more properly with the question," exportation should be prevented "when this traffic assumes such a form or such dimensions that the neutrality of a nation becomes involved thereby."
As to the assertion that the exportation of arms and ammunition contravenes the preamble of The Hague convention No. 13 of 1907, this government presumes that reference is made to the last paragraph of the preamble, which is as follows:—"seeing that, in this category of ideas, these rules should not, in principle, be altered, in the course of the war by a neutral power, except in a case where experience has shown the necessity for such change for the protection of the rights of that power."
Manifestly the only ground to change the rules laid down by the convention, one of which, it should be noted, explicitly declares that a neutral is not bound to prohibit the exportation of contraband of war, is the necessity of a neutral power to do so in order to protect its rights. The right and duty to determine when this necessity exists rests with the neutral, not with the belligerent. It is discretionary, not mandatory. If a neutral power does not avail itself of the right, a belligerent is not privileged to complain, for in doing so it would be in the position of declaring to the neutral power what is necessary to protect that power's own rights. The imperial and royal government cannot but perceive that a complaint of this nature would invite just rebuke.
With reference to the asserted inconsistency of the course adopted by this government in relation to the exportation of arms and ammunition and that followed in not allowing supplies to be taken from its ports to ships of war on the high seas, it is only necessary to point out that the prohibition of supplies to ships of war rests upon the principle that a neutral power must not permit its territory to become a naval base for either belligerent. A warship may, under certain restrictions, obtain fuel and supplies in a neutral port once in three months. To permit merchant vessels acting as tenders to carry supplies more often than three months and in unlimited amount would defeat the purpose of the rule and might constitute the neutral territory a naval base. Furthermore, this government is unaware that any Austro-Hungarian ship of war has sought to obtain supplies from a port in the United States, either directly or indirectly. This subject, has, however, already been discussed with the imperial German government, to which the position of this government was fully set forth Dec. 24, 1914.
In view of the positive assertion in the statement of the imperial and royal government as to the unanimity of the opinions of text writers, as to the exportation of contraband being neutral, this government has caused careful examination of the principal authorities on international law to be made. As a result of this examination it has come to the conclusion that the imperial and royal government has been misled and has inadvertently made an erroneous assertion. Less than one-fifth of the authorities consulted advocate unreservedly the prohibition of the export of contraband. Several of those who constitute this minority admit that the practice of nations has been otherwise. It may not be inopportune to direct particular attention to the declaration of the German authority, Paul Einicke, who states that, at the beginning of the war, belligerents have never remonstrated against the enactment of prohibitions on trade in contraband, but adds "that such prohibitions may be considered as violations of neutrality or at least as unfriendly acts, if they are enacted during a war with the purpose to close unexpectedly the sources of supply to a party which heretofore had relied on them."
The government of the United States deems it unnecessary to extend further at the present time a consideration of the statement of the Austro-Hungarian government. The principles of international law, the practice of nations, the national safety of the United States and other nations without great military and naval establishments, the prevention of increased crimes and navies, the adoption of peaceful methods for the adjustment of international difficulties, and, finally, neutrality itself, are opposed to the prohibition by a neutral nation of the exportation of arms, ammunition, or other munitions of war to belligerent powers during the progress of the war.

FRENCH REPORT CANNONADING ON SOUCHEZ FRONT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Aug. 16.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities, reading:
"There was intermittent cannonading last night in the vicinity of Souchez and on the plateau of Nouvron to the north of the river Aisne. There were also engagements with bombs and hand grenades in the sector of Quenneviers and in the western part of the Argonne."
"In the Vosges the explosion of a mine against an enemy trench located between Burnhaupt-Le-Bas and Amerzwiller, made it possible for us to take some prisoners and to capture two bomb throwers and a machine gun."

STORM IS DELAYING BRAZILS MINISTER RETURNING TO U. S.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New Orleans, August 16.—The gunboat Sacramento, bringing Jose M. Cardoso de Oliveira, Brazilian minister to Mexico, and his family and Dr. Ortega, the Guatemalan minister, expelled by General Carranza, was anchored in the gulf, five miles west of Southwest Pass today, waiting for the storm to abate so a pilot could bring her into the Mississippi river.
Reports from the mouth of the river said the seas were so high that an attempt to cross the bar would be extremely perilous. The Sacramento probably will not reach New Orleans before tonight. Mr. Cardoso will go to Washington.

BAROMETRIC DISTURBANCES.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 16.—Tropical disturbances which passed through the Yucatan channel Sunday, still apparently are centered in the South Central Gulf. At 9:35 a. m. today, the barometer read 29.60 and the wind was blowing 33 miles an hour from the northwest. There was indication that the disturbance might pass east of Galveston.

BETTER TIMES IN BUSINESS WORLD TOPIC DISCUSSED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Duluth, Minn., Aug. 16.—Good times in the business world was the topic informally discussed today by delegates from all over the United States here to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Mercantile Agencies. Most of them declared the business outlook is brighter than it has been for three years.
William Sherman Rauch, of the Credit Reporting Company, Newark, N. J. was one of the enthusiasts. "Makers of steel and iron products in the vicinity of Newark," he said, "have been running 24 hours a day for months, but there is also a noticeable recuperation in other lines. To show how free we are from hard times, we raised $250,000 in three days recently to prepare for the 250th anniversary of the founding of Newark."

AMERICANS FIGHT IN THE TRENCHES WITH CANADIANS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Aug. 16.—There are no fewer than 2000 Americans in the ranks of the Canadian military contingent, said Major General Samuel Hughes, Canadian minister of militia at a meeting of Americans held here last night. "I have already written letters of gratitude and sympathy," said General Hughes, "to mothers of more than 100 American boys who have fallen while fighting in Flanders alongside of Canadian comrades. More than 2000 enlisted and we could have many more if we wished. Any number of West Pointers offered their services as officers and some are now with us."

The loss is estimated at $200,000. Upper Rochester is a gold and silver mining camp in Humboldt county, about 200 miles east of here.

PLASTERERS WILL RETURN TO WORK

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 16.—Seven hundred men thrown out of employment by a strike and lockout, growing out of a dispute between the plasterers and lathers union, will return to work today. This action was agreed upon after all parties concerned in the dispute had agreed, through the efforts of the state bureau of mediation and conciliation to arbitrate the question.

CHAMPION PACERS

IN RACE TODAY
FOR HIGH HONORS

(Associated Press Telegram)

Cleveland, Aug. 16.—Which of the two stallions is the champion racing pacer, will be decided this afternoon when Directum I. and William meet at North Randall in their fifth match race. Each has won two of the four matches previously raced.

Another interesting event on the card is that between Lee Axworthy and Peter Volo, which will be the first match race in history between two trotting stallions with marks of 2:05
or better.

With the fast North Randall track
in excellent condition, horsemen expressed the belief that new world's records would be established.

the young man's uncle, read the letter written by President Wilson to the sailor's mother, expressing appreciation of his services to his country.

Nerv-Worth."

"I was very nervous, had no appetite, could not sleep or work before taking Nerv-Worth. After taking Nerv-Worth for two days I felt like a new man. Since taking the medicine I can get up in the morning refreshed and feel like doing a good day's work. I am 62 years past and can honestly say Nerv-Worth has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken for nervousness, restlessness, lack of sleep, also my appetite. I will recommend Nerv-Worth to any man, woman or child for any of above ailments. Write me at my address and I will tell you much more about the wonderful medicine. Nerv-Worth helped me from the first."

These are the exact words of a signed statement received a few days ago by Druggist T. J. Evans, of the Warden Hotel, from G. W. Williams, of route No. 3. Their sincerity and force are equally manifest. Mr. Williams is so happy and grateful that he wants fellow sufferers to write him about Nerv-Worth. Such an assurance speaks for itself.

Theatres

"The Spoilers."

Stunning with the savage reality of a powerful story, thrilling with the red-blooded action of a mighty plot, and reflecting the incomparable artistry of a wonderful group of actors, "The Spoilers" is a photo-play that has never had an equal in the moving picture world. The electric action of the rapidly unfolding plot stings the blood into a maddening, pulsing catarract, and carries the spectator through a maze of kaleidoscopic emotions that thrill, as only the love of things primitive can be a tale of the north country, where the only law of man is the ominous six-shooters that peers from a leather holster, where a man "takes what he wants," and where a strong arm and a spy gun-hand are a man's only insurance.

Rex Beach's masterful novel of naked Alaska makes the ideal story to picture. It is all action. From the first flickering introduction of the prologue to the beautiful climax, where in the fading purple of the setting sun, Glenister takes to his heart for aye, the girl he had fought for, and triumphed for, there is never a lull in the onrush of this compelling story. The appeal is irresistible. The force of William Barnum's vigorous personality tones the nerves to the breaking point, and in several of the big scenes the dominance of this wonderful character fairly overpowers.

It would be fair in passing to compliment Manager Harry English of the Auditorium in bringing this impressive picture story to this city.

and night.

lene. Try it. You'll be delighted.

score of 8 to 1. Though outbit Cubs were able to make their blows
count, chiefly because of battery ef-

Next Thursday's Picnic.

It has been interesting to this newspaper this summer, in looking over its exchanges, to see how many towns there are where Business Men's Associations, Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade have been having summer picnics, outings, field days, and other public events.

Some people may regard such affairs as this as purely jollifications, arranged so that the business men can have a grand blow out. But they serve a far more important purpose than that.

The Advocate has always preached the necessity of harmony in the business community, and co-operation among business men. Usually these ends are attained by forming an organization of the business men.

It too often happens, after such an association is formed, that its efforts become perfunctory. A few officers are left to do the work. The others stand back and criticize, rarely attend meetings and do not come into any closer unity one with another.

Here is where the social side comes in. If the business men of a town won't get together for set discussions about trade interests, something more informal should be tried. A picnic or other outing will bring them together in a jolly way, where all stiffness and all business hostilities will be forgotten.

When they get by telling ball and eating luncheon and finding stories one with another, they find that after all the hated competitor is a very good fellow. The next time they meet him on the street, they have a pleasant word for him, and soon get into the way of dropping in to each other's place of business for mutual consultation.

It is out of these pleasant relations that town spirit and business co-operation grow. Business men don't acquire the spirit of unity in stiff meetings, where they sit around in rows and discuss after parliamentary forms. There is some-

Aug. 16 In History.

1825—Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, American soldier and statesman, author of the immortal phrase, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute," died; born 1746.
1864—Sheridan's famous retreat down the Shenandoah valley, driving the live stock of the natives before him and burning their grain stacks for twenty-five miles.
1914—Japan demanded that Germany evacuate Kiauchau, China. Austrian battleships Zeinly and three Austrian ironclads sunk in the Adriatic sea by French warships.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

thing lacking in a town's organization, if the business men do not meet each other frequently in a way calculated to promote friendships.

The Business Men's Association of this city is doing a fine thing in co-operating with the farmers of Licking county in giving a Farmers and Merchants picnic at Moundbuilders' Park (Licking county fair ground) next Thursday, Aug. 19. This picnic should and no doubt will serve to bring the city and the country closer together.

The real object of the picnic is to promote the idea of an experiment farm for this county and some of the men who are best informed on this topic will be present to speak. The governor is to be here also. There will be band music, free lemonade, free coffee, horse racing, baseball, etc., with good prize awards, fun and entertainment for all. If the weather proves to be good a great crowd will assemble at the Newark fair ground next Thursday.

Marking of Highways.

One of the results of automobile travel is a general effort for the better marking of highways with guideboards. The same thing applies equally well in towns, where there is commonly a lack of proper marking of street corners, which is irritating to visitors and newcomers.

In rural sections important road junctions have commonly at some time or other been marked by guideboards. These always used to be simply wood signs, with painted directions. In a few years the paint is washed off, and with the closest scrutiny it may be impossible to decipher the remnants of the information.

It is a common experience with the old fashioned guideboard, to read that a certain town is ten miles away. After you travel three miles more, you will probably find another guideboard to the effect that that town is 12 miles away.

Within the past year or two automobile associations and highway departments have planted many road signs, giving routes and distances as well as warning motorists against dangerous places. By one of the perversities of human nature, these signs are often uprooted by vandals within a few weeks after they are erected. Boys use them as targets for stone throwing, and boys of older growth as marks for more deadly weapons.

In towns street signs suffer similarly. Idle boys enjoy the reputation of outlaws and of good marksmanship acquired by planting a rock squarely on a more or less fragile metal sign.

Nothing adds more to the comfort of a traveller than clear markings of the highway. Nothing makes a town seem more convenient and up-to-date than the careful marking of corners with names of streets. The man or the boy who destroys or injures one of these signs is hurting the reputation of his home town for civic spirit.

When State Auditor Vic Donahey called down a rambunctious Democratic official he was hailed by the Republican press as a rigidly honest and stern patriot. Now that he is snatching Republican spendthrifts by the back of the neck the same papers coarsely call him a liar and bewail his lost reputation for truth telling. It does make a difference whose ox is gored.

Preparations are being made at the state house for the departure of the great one-ringed presidential circus for California on Sept. 21. It is hoped that the Burton menagerie, now traveling in the West, will not injure business for the Willis outfit.

The Advocate's Advertising School
LESSON NO. 5.

A fundamental principle of advertising is to give information about goods.
When the consumer buys today he asserts his personal individuality and does the choosing. He expresses his likes or dislikes. He seeks for information about different styles of goods. Whether or not his choice may be wisely made, he wants to know the reasons, and form his own judgment. In years past soap was soap, coffee was coffee. Now the buyer wants to know more facts about the different makes of soap and coffee, and which will come the nearest to suiting him.

Hence an advertisement is not thoroughly effective unless it gives some information calculated both to interest the reader in the goods, to help him form a mental picture of them, and to formulate a judgment whether it is something that would meet his needs and please his taste.
Here is the way a furniture dealer gives a good idea in small space of an article in his stock:

A CHAIR CHANCE.
Beautifully mahoganyized Birch.
Fine Polished Finish.
Either Spring Seats or Loose Cushion Upholsterings.
Built to Fit the Curve in the Back Graceful Lines a pleasure to look at.
A good $9.00 Chair only $4.98.

An advertisement like that will sell five chairs where a simple announcement like "The best chair on the market for the money" would barely sell one.

Merchants do not always realize how interested people are in details of manufacture. They like to find out about processes of making goods, about the materials used in their manufacture, about the circumstances and conditions under which goods were purchased. The well-written advertisement gives some information of this character. It will set the public to thinking and fix attention on a merchant's offerings.

When goods are bought from the wholesaler, the skillful advertiser always tries to get some "talking points" of this kind. Any intelligent salesman can mention many features around which a telling information advertisement could be written.

A writer in "Printer's Ink" relates how a certain shoe firm profited by emphasizing the fact that leather cut from near the backbone of the animal has a closer texture and wears better. Points like these fix a buyer's attention on an advertiser's goods, and predispose him to favor the line thus advertised.

Pennsy's Record.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company which operated nearly 70,000 passenger trains in the month of June over 90 per cent of which reached their destination "on time," now has a rule requiring a physical examination made of all dining car and restaurant employes every 30 days for the purpose of insuring against the employment of a person with even a tendency toward a communicable disease.

The "Pennsy" has a wonderful record. No passenger has been killed in a train accident on the road since 1912 and 28 1-2 per cent less employes were killed in the first six months of this year than in the corresponding period of last year.

Spirit of the Press

Newark's "Johnny" Clem.
The story of Johnny Clem deserves to be perpetuated in the hearts and minds of true Americans. His was the patriotism that marks the heroes of all ages and times and such as find the songs of sagas in the olden days. Uncle Sam is fortunate to have had Johnny Clem's long service. His record is an inspiration. May his reward be full measure.—Kalamazoo (Michigan) Telegraph Press

New England.
While it is true that no other part of the United States has done so much as New England to build up the newer country, it is also true that no other part is so little understood. We're not boasting when we say that if those people who are all the time denouncing New England would just come and get acquainted with New England, they'd sing a different song. The trouble lies in not being acquainted.—Harford Courant

The Preacher's Sphere.
This subject of sex hygiene presents a larger field for the clergy, who in their preaching and teaching can do much to develop more respect for these physical temples of ours—bodies which God says he has bought with a price, and the detiler of which He says He will also destroy. Next to godliness is physical righteousness, and the clergyman can do much practical good by developing a "physical conscious" in his people that will inspire them to live perfect physical lives. He can do great good by organizing mothers' and fathers' clubs, in which will be discussed problems pertaining to the training and home education of the children in sex hygiene problems, for the "Christianity" which does not make this life better and happier fails in its purpose.—Good Health

How Long?
All the warring nations in Europe are straining their credit to the utmost in their effort to tear each other to pieces. They are borrowing wherever they can borrow and paying as far as possible for vast outlay with paper note. Meantime their gold is pouring into the United States by trainloads. How much longer can they stand the strain?—Philadelphia Record

Almost Spilling Over.
Business is improving, reports the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Nervousness over the war and its possibilities is less and less wearing on the spirit of enterprise. The crops are coming splendidly. We may aid in confidence that prosperity is already here and promising to spill over almost any time.—New York World

"Where Neighbors Love One Another."
The question was asked of the matron in one of our great metropolitan union stations, "how do you enjoy your work?" "I have no heart in it," was her reply. Henry W. Grady, of Georgia, spent a few days in a northern city with his good wife. Next to his apartment he saw crepe on the door. He asked his landlady who was dead. She coolly replied, "I don't know; its none of my funeral." Grady turned to his wife and exclaimed, "Let's go back to Georgia where neighbors love one another." What would Jesus have done? Just as he did in Palestine. He goes where people are sick, where people are dying, where people are hungry, where people are poor, and he cures them, comforts them, rests them. In city, country, glade mountain valley, wherever he finds a broken heart, he always the same affectionate friend, a pitying and loving, living and doing, serving and saving, weeping and dying.—Christian Herald

TO THE RESCUE OF FRIEND BEAR

BACK TO THE FARM.

All over the country the bush leagues are bursting, the magnates who back them must view with alarm; the retrospect of the bad and the outlook disgusting, and empirics and captains go back to the farm. No more on the bleachers; the crowds are applauding the left-handed pitcher who wound up his arm; that hero, with grief in his bosom, is plodding along the bleak highway that leads to the farm. The diamond is pasturing horses and cattle, the gate is nailed up to protect it from barn; no more do we hear the wild clamor of battle, the catches and fielders have gone to the farm. Oh, what is the matter? Is baseball decaying? The game of our dads—is it losing its charm? Oh, what must we think when the players quit playing, and hit the long road that leads back to the farm? The present is dark and the fans are despairing, the future extends us no comfort or arm; promoters are sick and the sport writers swearing, and most of the players are back on the farm.

He was fined $15 and costs, a total of $19 when arraigned in police court Monday morning and then escorted his license which cost him $10 more. Five drunks drew fines of $5 and costs.

Deck Bound Over.

John Deck, brought to Newark
last week on a charge of theft preferred by Mrs. Blanche Grace, who alleges that he stole three diamond rings worth $500, waived examination when arraigned before Mayor Bigbee Monday morning and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $500. Two of the rings were returned by Deck and the third is still held by the pawn broker
in Cincinnati where Deck received $67 for it.

A. L. RAWLINGS
LEAVES CITY;
UNDER BOND

A. L. Rawlings, under bonds totaling $21,000 for his appearance before common pleas court to answer to numerous charges of forging piano notes, left the city shortly after his release from the county jail Saturday when his bond of $15,000 required in the latest prosecution, was furnished to the satisfaction of Clerk of Courts Horton.

The report of his absence from the city caused considerable comment Monday though there is no apprehension felt that he will not appear when his case comes before the common pleas court. After giving bond, he is free to go where he pleases, so long as he is present when the common pleas court takes up his case.

Attorney J. R. Fitzgibbon, who represents the Cincinnati firm which is prosecuting the cases brought before Magistrate Scott, stated this afternoon that there were no new developments in the case as far as he knew. Prosecutor J. W. Horner, who has acted with attorneys representing Rawlings' creditors, also stated that there were no new developments since Saturday.

An effort was made this afternoon to communicate with Mr. Rawlings' bondsmen but without success. They were either out of the city or could not be reached by telephone.

Whether Mr. Rawlings is out of the city temporarily or whether he will remain away until his case comes before the grand jury could not be learned.

AUTO ACCIDENT;
TWO MEN HURT;
REFUSE NAMES

Two men injured in an automobile accident on the Granville road Saturday night about 9:30 o'clock successfully concealed their identity although they were brought to Newark in an ambulance and had their injuries dressed in the office of a Newark surgeon. They spent the night in a Newark hotel and on Sunday secured their machine, paid their bills and departed without leaving any trace of their identity.

The machine, a Ford, was speeding along the Granville road and at a point near Crook's crossing a tire on the machine blew out, the machine turned turtle and rolled into the yard of the Crooks property.

Both occupants were pinned under the machine. One suffered a fractured rib and the other a sprained ankle. Both had numerous body bruises. The machine had to be lifted to release the men held prisoners beneath it. The machine was also badly damaged.

The Bradley ambulance brought the injured men to the office of Dr.
C. F. Legg where their injuries received attention.

KECKLEY MORE
SERIOUSLY HURT
THAN REPORTED

J. Russell Keckley, 18 years old, street car conductor, who was so brutally assaulted by William Marwick last Thursday night, suffered a fracture of both cheek bones as well as a fracture of the nose, according to a statement made this afternoon at his home. The young man rested easier last night than any time since the assault. Sunday it was feared that serious trouble might follow the concussion which resulted when his head struck the window frame after being struck by Marwick. It is now believed that he will recover without any serious trouble.

SUIT DISMISSED
NEW ONE WILL BE STARTED AT ONCE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 16.—The suit brought by George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City American Association team to restrain Federal league agents from making offers to his players, was dismissed in Judge Johnson's division of the circuit court here today.

John S. Wright, attorney for Tebeau, agreed with C. C. Madison, one of the Federal league agents named in the suit, to drop action against Madison.
The judge then said that as the other Federal league agents named were not present, it would be inadvisable for Tebeau's attorneys to ask for further continuance of the case.

Tebeau's attorneys said a new suit
would be filed immediately.

DRYNESS

OF SAHARA HAS HERETOFORE
BEEN HANCOCK COUNTY'S CONDITION

For First Time in County's History
a Liquor License Board Has Been Appointed.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Aug. 16.—For the first time in its history, Hancock county today was able to boast a liquor license board. The reason was that one or two people in that county have decided they want to go into the saloon business.

For years Hancock county has been a Sahara of dryness. The home-rule amendment to the constitution last fall opened the floodgates, but still there was not even an oasis.

During the last week some applications were made for a saloon license. The state license commission had no other alternative than to start up the license machinery by appointing an announcement today it will consist of F. M. Steiner, Democrat and John Hemphill, Republican, both of Findlay. They will serve until the new state license law becomes operative, September 4 and they may have no duties excepting that of granting one or two saloon licenses.

Meanwhile, Findlay, the home of the commissioners themselves, is dry under municipal local option.

say whether he would endeavor to renew negotiations to purchase on different terms.

night on a charge of forgery, on the complaint of M. M. Johnson, Williams street grocer, waived examination in police court Monday morning and was bound over to common pleas court under bond in the sum of $300. Officers Corder and Stewart arrested the man.
